VOCATION MATTERS: Second Sunday of Lent:

"Jesus... led them up a high mountain where they could be alone" (Matthew 17:1)

"Alone with none but thee, my God, I journey on my way. What need I fear when thou art near, O King of night and day?"

Those words are attributed to St. Columba from the sixth century. In Lent, hopefully we have the opportunity to spend time alone with God. Being comfortable with solitude is beneficial when we want to follow Jesus more closely. If we are to be transfigured slowly into the people God is calling us to be, then being with God in silence and quiet is a great place to start.

Give it a go!
